Longavita,

THE TABLET OF LIFE.

(Pills At Longan Vitam.)

The Scientific Discovery of the Age!

The Magic Key to the Mystery of Life!

From time immemorial it has been man's pre-dominant ambition to prolong life. But among the many brilliant minds who have devoted their lives to the fascinating subject of life was left to the immortal Darwin to give to the world, in his great theory of Life, the fundamental principle upon which to build all further research in this direction. Following closely in his footsteps came Prof. Dr. Ludwig Buchner, a German scientist of international renown, with his remarkable work entitled "Das Buch des Langen Lebens" (the book on Longevity). But alas, like Darwin, he too died ere he could reap the fruit of his wonderful doctrine. Others, however, equally great took up the interrupted thread, with the result that two famous German scientists, after years of experiments and research, have at last discovered the secret of Longevity, in the shape of a remarkable Vegetable Compound, which, if properly used, will positively prolong life. This new remedy, appropriately named "Longavita" (meaning Long Life) has been subjected to the most rigid tests at all the leading clinics and hospitals throughout Europe with marvelous results. Appreciating the importance of this discovery, we have acquired, at enormous cost, the exclusive proprietary right to this truly wonderful preparation, which has proved a blessing to mankind. "Longavita" is the true Tablet of Life, a rejuvenator par excellence, embodying the veritable secret of Longevity in a practical, feasible form. It is the fountain of perpetual youth, which it prolongs far beyond its present limits, while retaining health in a perfectly normal state. "Longavita" brightens the eye, stimulates mental activity, gives elasticity to the step, makes the face full, absorbs wrinkles, cleanses the system, purifies the skin, and is the only true Ponce de Leon remedy for old and young of both sexes. Endorsed by Europe's leading physicians.

HOOKE--HOITT.

Miss Fannie Elwood Hoitt Made the Wife of Mr. Walter Francis
Hooper of Worcester—Grand Mid-Winter Wedding—Brilliant Reception.

The great social event of the week was the brilliant wedding which took place at the beautiful and spacious residence of Postmaster A. D. Hoitt on Pleasant street. For weeks preparations on an extensive and elaborate scale have been in progress, and when Thursday evening arrived everything was in perfect readiness. This happy event was the marriage of Miss Fannie Elwood Hoitt to Mr. Walter Francis Hooper of Worcester, a son of Mr. J. E. Hooper.

Long before the hour for the ceremony, a large number of hacks were kept busy carrying the invited guests to the house, so that when the hour for the ceremony arrived the home was filled with a happy company.

During the day the house was in the hands of the decorators, and we doubt if a more elaborate and rich effect was ever produced at any previous wedding in the town.

The dining room was handsomely trimmed. Large sprays of southern smilax were hung over the windows and doors and on the chandelier, and red azalea blossoms were used with fine effect embedded in the smilax. Potted red primroses were placed on the mantel.

The parlor was like the dining room, except that pink azalea and carnation blossoms were used. Pink primroses were banked on the mantel.

The drawing room, where the ceremony was performed, was converted into a beautiful flower and tropical garden. In this room smilax was used in profusion. It was twined about the walls and formed a border. It hung in large festoons at the windows and doors. Easter lilies and pots of white azaleas were banked on the mantel. But the prettiest spot of all was at the large bay window. Here were thickly banked palms and ferns, with numberless pots of white azaleas. White azalea and carnation blossoms were used in profusion among the smilax, while tropical plants, pots of white azaleas and Easter lilies were placed about the room. Mr. W. W. Rawson's decorations certainly made a very pleasing effect, and came in for a large share of admiration.

The ushers were Messrs. Alfred W. Hoitt, a brother of the bride, Arthur R. Hooper of Worcester, a brother of the groom, and Melville Heath of Worcester, and Dr. J. Frank Young, Jr., of Boston, a cousin of the bride.

Promptly at 7.30 o'clock the orchestra struck up the strains of the wedding march, and the bride, leaning on the arm of the bridegroom, started on their march to the altar. Here they were met by the Rev. S. C. Bushnell, who united the happy pair in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The bride looked her prettiest in a lovely bridal gown of white peau de soie, lavishly trimmed with duchesse lace and chiffon. The white tulle veil was caught up with a diamond bow-knot. A lovely bouquet of bride roses tied with a silk ribbon was carried by the bride.

The maid of honor was Miss Julia A. Hartwell. She was most becomingly gowned in pink peau de soie, with chiffon, pearl and gold trimmings, and carried a handsome bouquet of Catherine Mermet roses.

The best man for the groom was his close friend, Dr. George M. Albee of Worcester.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held from 8 to 10 o'clock.

The bride was assisted in receiving by her sister, Mrs. T. Ralph Parris, who wore a handsome dress of white foulard, trimmed with blue panne velvet and gold passanterie, her father, Mr. A. D. Hoitt, and the father and mother of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Hooper.

During the reception the Lynn Cadet orchestra gave an excellent program of concert music.

After the reception a wedding supper was served by Caterer Dill in the dining room. The table certainly looked lovely with its dainty china, cut glass and candelabras, and was bountifully laden.

Mr. and Mrs. Hooper left for a short wedding tour, but refused to tell their friends where they were going. After the honeymoon they will take up their residence in Worcester.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and elegant presents. Many exquisite pieces of cut glass adorned the tables. Solid silver spoons of the different sizes in full sets, pearl-handled silver knives and forks, handsomely painted china, individual solid silver dishes, cake and pie knives, costly pictures, expensive and handsomely designed lamps, statuary, a large and magnificent oval French bevel plate mirror in a costly gilt frame, together with three checks for large amounts.

The going-away gown of the bride was blue broadcloth, trimmed with blue velvet.

WOMAN'S CLUB.

Owing to Mr. John Kendrick Bangs being called to Cuba on unexpected and important business, he will be unable to fulfil his engagement in Arlington for gentlemen's night. Hence it has seemed best to postpone gentlemen's night until sometime in March, when Mr. Bangs can be present. Accordingly there will be no meeting on Jan. 31. The announcement for gentlemen's night will be made later.

Instead of the quarterly meeting of the Mass. State Federation of Women's clubs, there will be a conference of the New England clubs held in Boston on April 11 and 21. It is necessary to offer hospitality to delegates from a distance for those two nights, and it is asked that as many of our club members who can will do so. That proper arrangements may be made, the general committee must know by February 1st. Hence, those desiring to entertain delegates must send their names to the local committee before Feb. 1. This committee consists of Mrs. C. F. Coolidge, 79 Jason street, Mrs. S. G. Damon, 275 Broadway, Mrs. F. S. Bryant, 155 Mass. avenue.

The Arts and Crafts committee of the Federation offers a first and second prize, $15 and $10 respectively, for designs for a practical and artistic guide-board and post for country and village streets and roads. Designs are to be submitted to the jury on or before April 1, 1901. This competition is open to all persons living in Massachusetts. For further particulars apply to Mrs. Ada W. Tillinghast, 37 Eighth street, New Bedford, Mass.

TREE WARDEN'S WARNING.

Office of Tree Warden,
Town Hall Building,
Arlington, Mass., Jan. 11, 1901.

The attention of the property owners of this town who have any trees or shrubbery on their premises is called to the spread of the Brown-tail Moth throughout this town. Owing to the rapid increase of this insect in the last two years, especially in the south-easterly section of the town, something must be done to stop the spread of this destructive pest. This cannot be done without individual interest being shown on the part of citizens owning trees, etc. The tree warden will have his hands full to take care of this insect on the trees of the public highways without having to contend with the spread of the same from private property. The home of the Brown-tail Moth can be easily distinguished this time of the year by what is known as a tent on the tips of twigs. These tents are made by drawing together a few small leaves and lining them with a mass of silken threads. They are so firmly fastened to the twigs that they cannot be removed without using considerable force. The most effective method of destroying this insect, probably, is to cut off these tents on the tips of the branches during the winter months. As the caterpillars are hibernating in them at this time, they must be burned at once. The tents or webs are unsightly objects, and are easily seen at this time of the year. The pear tree seems to be the favorite food plant of this insect. The number and variety of other food plants to which the insect adapts itself indicates that it may become a very serious pest to a wide range of fruit and shade trees. It will not require but a small amount of time and labor to do this work on places having a few trees, and farmers and owners of large estates generally have help enough employed to make a short piece of work of this matter.

R. W. LEBRON,
Tree Warden.

A FALSE RECKONING.

That is a false reckoning which attempts to glorify and well nigh deify men and women through the possession of mere wealth. The dollar, however many times multiplied, can add nothing of intrinsic worth to any man or woman, whoever he or she may be. To get at the real value of the human kind, our reckoning must be apart from all outward possessions and surroundings. The man will only be justly estimated as he lies in his coffin. Still the tendency is to magnify the man through the many millions he may possess.

We now have in mind the glorification that has been made throughout our entire country of the recently married pair, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt. The entire press, to a nauseating degree, has been filled and running over with this young man and woman who are in no way distinguished aside from the fact that they have inherited millions, a dollar of which they have never earned. For the past few weeks the papers have been crammed full of the French-Vanderbilt wedding. But why, for heaven's sake, all this commotion? Why should every ride that young Vanderbilt takes in his automobile be advertised throughout our whole land? Why need it be heralded broadcast that the young bride has had given her a pair of slippers costing fifteen dollars? Suppose her wedding presents did cost five hundred thousand dollars, what of it? It doesn't necessarily matter that Vanderbilt counts up into the fifty millions and his wife adds in her own right another ten millions to the pile. The only important question that concerns mankind is, what of the man and woman aside from their money? The little barefoot girl, far back in the country, making her way to the summer district school, is not to be accounted of less value than is Mrs. Vanderbilt in her gold embroidered slippers. It is the golden calf over again, and we are all falling down and worshipping it.

It is a misfortune that we have so many multi-millionaires in this country. The mere aggregation of wealth for the sake of increasing the "pile" is an unmodified evil, for it not only works injury to the possessor, but it works an injury to those who look with envious eyes upon such vast wealth. Men and women of moderate means are those who are today and ever will be, answering the demands of both the individual and the public. The many times over millionaire is nowhere needed. For such the world has no use. And beside all this, there is no man or woman in all God's world who has the moral right to become possessed of his or her millions. We have the right only to that for which we return an equivalent. Every dollar that a man possesses should bear the stamp of himself wrought out in an industrial way.

We are glad that Arlington has few or no millionaires. This town is peculiarly fortunate in having so equable a distribution of its wealth among its residents. Here we can come together as a man in the interests of the public good. That is always a fortunate community where enormous wealth is not made the dividing line in all social and business life. Our daughters, it is true, may not be introduced to the queen upon taking their marriage vows, but they and all of us, without the slightest reference to the "almighty dollar," may be introduced to all nature, whose throne will long outlast that of her majesty the queen of England, and whose royal and exquisite robes do now and always will outshine those of Queen Victoria's best. Why not be sensible men and women, and so appreciate that enough is even better than a feast? Mr. Vanderbilt and his wife will soon learn that they cannot purchase with all this wealth that which is not for sale in the markets of the world, and certain it is that a contented, happy life is not to be purchased at any price. It comes, if it comes at all, from the right development of that manhood and womanhood which are of infinitely greater worth than the silver and the gold.

"SLIDING DOWN HILL."

"Sliding down hill" was what we used to call it when a boy, but now it is "coasting." Well, it is all the same thing, and there is lots of fun in it. Do you children of today suppose we shall ever forget how, when a pupil in the district school during the winter season, we used to coast down that little hill right opposite the red schoolhouse with the prettiest girl in all the neighborhood on the coaster with us? What if we did now and then tip over into the snowbank alongside our way? We never for a moment forgot the pretty winsome girl by our side, so we were up at once to tenderly care for our little companion at whatever inconvenience to us, and it is a pleasant thought to us after all these years that she was quite willing to be cared for. The average boy is always ready to go down hill at lightning speed if he can only have his pick of girls to go along with him.

At any rate this is the way it used to be, and we take it for granted that it is so now, if we may judge from that little group of girls and boys from the Kindergarten school who the other morning were speeding away down Maple street on the double runner. How happy were those little ones! With their faces all aglow with the health and freshness of the morning, they were having their fill of enjoyment. We could but notice how heartily and informally they all entered into this more than fun alive. The girls did not stop to button their gloves or crimp their hair before seating themselves beside their brave gallants for the hilarious coast down the hill. O, the natural, joyous life of the children! Why can't we older men and women learn of them? We hope the time will never come to you, girls and boys, when you shall become so shy of each other that you will not gladly put yourselves closely side by side and make together the fastest time on record in sliding down hill.

THROW OPEN THE HOME.

Throw open every room in your home for family life. Don't keep a spare nook or corner for "company." Let the children have the run of the entire house, from cellar to garret. How well we remember that "spare room" in the earlier times. Its windows were all closed, the curtains were all down and the blinds were tightly shut, awaiting the call from that good man, the clergyman, who at regular intervals dropped in to inquire in a formal, repellent way after the spiritual welfare of each member of the family. On such occasions, and upon others when company was to be entertained, this spare room would be thrown open now and then of an evening, but never at any other time unless there was a death in the family. Our remembrance of this one room shut out and from the home life is not altogether pleasant to us. It brings to us the shadow and the cloud instead of the clear, genial light of day.

We say again, let the children have the run of the entire house. Suppose they do disturb things and disarrange the furniture, what of it? Such disarrangement gives a more domestic look to all about. We never feel more ill at ease than in that home where each chair has its own particular place, and where every piece of furniture is arranged in its setting in mathematical order, and where the family order is, "don't move that chair," "come away from the piano," and, indeed, "hands off" of everything in and about the house. Such a home, so us, is much the same as the village cemetery.

Yes, throw open every room in your house, and so allow every member of the family from the youngest to the oldest to have a romp and a run, although by so doing things occasionally may be pretty well upset in the household. Nothing does us so much good as to be able to track the children in the home through their sports.

FIRST IMPRESSIONS.

That one's first impressions of men and things are more generally correct than otherwise is a truth that has been proven over and over again. Each individual introduces himself at first sight, nine times out of ten, to the stranger just as he is. The face needs no second reading that you may come to understand pretty definitely the leading characteristics of your man. And yet one can hardly describe that indefinite something which either attracts or repels us. The human face may uniformly be taken as reliable evidence of the individual man or woman. We may try to hide ourselves as we will, but we never can succeed in the attempt so long as we go unmasked. Intuitively the little child in his baby carriage instantly recognizes his friend as he passes him on the street. The children are seldom or never deceived in reading character. They pluck only the good man's gown. We always pity that man or woman from whom the little ones will run.

We men and women of Arlington become known to each other by our tell-tale faces. The formal introduction and the acquaintanceship which may follow are not altogether necessary for a personal knowledge of each other. We know faces which are in themselves heart and soul invitations to all that is good and ennobling. We have them here in Arlington, and we are always delighted to meet them upon the street and elsewhere. The human face is an open book, and it may be and is read by all men. Don't attempt longer to dissemble and try to appear what you are not, for your face will surely betray you in the cheat.

FRESH AIR.

Fresh, pure air is the crying want of humanity, and nature in her wonderful prodigality has abundantly supplied us with it; and yet how many shut themselves up in close, stifled rooms, to breathe over and over again the vitiated atmosphere of the home. One in ordinary health can be in no danger of taking cold or catching the gripe in having the air circulate about him freely and upon all sides. It is an unequal circulation of air that gives the cold, so do not put up simply one window in the room when airing it, but put them all up. It is a most singular fact that we miserably stint ourselves in the use of that which God has given us in the greatest abundance, and thus many of us keep right on shutting out the sunshine and the ozone just as though nature was liable at any moment to run short of an adequate supply.

It was Horace Mann who said that the air of the sleeping room should be as pure and invigorating in the morning as when we go to bed at night. Suppose for a moment that a sanitary committee were to visit the sleeping rooms here in Arlington or elsewhere of a morning, what would be its verdict? You may be sure such an official board would make tracks for the open air at the earliest moment possible.

A proper ventilation of our homes and of our public buildings has been wickedly disregarded. Enter any of our school buildings after the pupils have been in session for an hour, and what do you find? You will find in almost every instance an atmosphere so vitiated and so offensive that you set your wits to work that you may somehow shorten your visit without seeming discourteous. How much deadly poison do you say one inhales during his ride from Arlington to Boston in our electric cars? Enough, surely, that, were he to take in the same amount in liquid form, the case would be pronounced an attempt at suicide.

For heaven's sake give us the quickening life that comes from the invigorating atmosphere and from the blessed sunshine.

AN ELECTRIC PLANT FOR ARLINGTON.

We hope none of our readers have failed to read in last week's issue of the Enterprise the communication of "Business Reform" upon the subject of a town lighting plant. The reasons the writer adduces for such plant must commend themselves to every intelligent citizen of Arlington. Why depend upon others when we can better depend upon ourselves? Our town lighting system as at present arranged is not altogether satisfactory. More or less frequently the electric light has failed to shine forth so as to safely conduct the traveller on his way. It surely must be the part of a wise economy for Arlington to furnish its own system of lights as long as she has, as the writer says, "an ideal plant in the old pumping station waiting to be used and an abundant water supply." It isn't business like or sensible that all these advantages should prove of no account to us.

Arlington would make in a twofold way in having its own lighting plant. In the long run it would save money thereby, and then again its lights would prove more satisfactory to the town. Under our present system of lighting there is many a nook and corner of the town that are left out in the dark. It was only the other evening that we had occasion to make a business call on a friend here in Arlington, when we were compelled to grope our way as best we could for an eighth of a mile in total darkness. Our friend lives in an up to date house, and yet you have got to hunt for it when the sun goes down. Now there is no part of our town, however sparsely inhabited, that should not be lighted. This is only just and fair to the resident who pays his proportion of the public tax. And then again, as we have said many times before, our lights should be at full blaze during the entire night. As it is now, our policemen must be compelled to play a sort of hide-and-go-seek game after one o'clock in the morning, just the time for the burglar to begin his work.

The expense of lighting the city of Detroit, Mich., has been reduced 13 per cent. by municipal ownership. In 1889 the city of Elgin, Ill., established an electric lighting plant, and in the mayor's report of Jan. 12, 1891, the cost of running 77 double arc lamps all night under public ownership was $4800 for 1890. The city had previously paid $8000 per year for running 33 lamps until midnight.

Yes, we say with "Business Reform," give us a town lighting plant, and give it to us at our next town meeting.

GEORGE S. BOUTWELL.

The Hon. George S. Boutwell, whose 51st anniversary since his governorship of Massachusetts, has been celebrated this week, is a man who represents the stamina and integrity of our earlier days. True to his convictions always, he did not hesitate to leave his party in the fifties and associate himself with what was then known as the Free Soil party, and from that day to this ex-Governor Boutwell has stood forth as the champion of equal rights. He is thoroughly an American in the best sense of that term. Whatever he claims for himself as an American citizen he has ever been ready to grant to others, and so he believes in no aggression upon the rights of the Filipinos. No man in Massachusetts is held in higher esteem than is ex-Gov. Boutwell. He has filled every public official position to which he has been called by the state and national government with marked honesty and ability, so that now at the ripe old age of 84 years he is honored and loved throughout the whole land.

THOSE OLD-FASHIONED WINTERS.

Could we have those old-fashioned winters of the early sixties the gripe would soon be a minus quantity. We well remember that somewhere between 1860 and '63 there was one winter in which Dr. Mason, then a resident of the heights, with an office in Boston, rode in his cutter to the city for 116 consecutive days. Some of our older residents will remember how at that time those large barges on runners would evening after evening make their way from Boston to Lexington and Concord with their merry groups of young men and women. What we need in this latitude is good winter weather, and a long stretch of it.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Vanderbilt paid $5000 for having the "knot" tied.

Now it is United States Senator-elect Burnham of New Hampshire.

The burning alive of a negro the other day in Leavenworth, Kan., is a disgrace to all civilization.

These January thaws, such as we are having on this day, Wednesday, are of all things the most abominable.

Dr. W. J. Galvin won out and was elected chairman of the school board on Monday evening for another term in Boston.

The Cuban school system lost its best friend when A. E. Frye resigned. Politics should be kept out of school government.

The business man who doesn't advertise fell asleep in his store the other day, and there was not a single caller to disturb his slumbers.

C. L. Alvord, Jr., who stole $690,000 from the First National Bank of N. Y., was sentenced on Wednesday to 13 years in Sing Sing prison.

Atty. Gen. Knowlton in his annual report advocates the abolition of the death penalty. It is timely and should receive the voice of the people.

Hon. William F. Chandler, who was not afraid to speak his mind and the truth in the U. S. Senate, has been retired by the New Hampshire legislature.

Senator Quay's re-election to the United States Senate from Pennsylvania is a big personal triumph for the wily senator. Pennsylvania can swallow a good deal in a political way.

We were glad to see that Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt made their way to Boston immediately after the nuptial ceremony, in a quiet and unostentatious manner. They didn't herald their coming.

Newport was all agog Monday over the marriage of Miss French and Mr. Vanderbilt. Everything was done on an elaborate scale, money being spent as freely as water. The first night of their honeymoon was spent at the Hotel Somerset, Boston.

No greater compliment could have been extended to Senator Hoar than his election on Tuesday for the fifth time to the United States Senate by the legislature of Massachusetts. Not in accord with the Republican party of the state on the management of the Filipinos, yet the honorable senator is re-elected to his present position by a unanimous party vote. In this instance the state has placed the man above the politician.

ARLINGTON NEWS.

Mrs. Harry Jones is sick with the grippe.

Mr. Joseph Monahan of Lewis avenue is confined to his home with the grippe.

Hereafter the Enterprise will be on sale at the news rooms Friday evenings.

Both Drs. Percy and Dennett have been the victims of robe thieves the past week.

Chief Harriman has been confined to his home for three days with an attack of the grippe.

Mr. D. F. Collins has been confined to his home this week with a slight attack of pneumonia.

The architect's drawing of the new Baptist church is attracting considerable attention in the bank window.

Get your ticket at Whittemore's or at the door, for the convention of the maiden ladies. Admission 25 cents.

Tuesday and Wednesday were trying days for both a man's patience and his health. Slush was ankle deep owing to the rain.

The latest hit in farce theatricals, "The old maids' convention," at the vestry of the Universalist church, next Thursday evening.

A whist party will be held next Tuesday evening, under the auspices of Golden Rule Lodge, U. O. of I. O. L., in G. A. R. hall.

A large company of the Arlington Golf Club members assembled at the club house Wednesday evening and enjoyed a card party.

Mrs. Arthur Moulton of Summer street died very suddenly at her home on Summer street of the grippe. She was only sick two days.

A letter received this week at the First National Bank from Chicago, reports Mr. E. Nelson Blake as improving from his recent attack of grippe.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Carleton H. Hutchinson, 14 Mt. Vernon street, are congratulating them upon the birth of a promising baby boy.

William P. Schwamb & Bro. are constructing three handsome counters for the new store of Mr. R. W. LeBaron. This firm does nothing but the finest work.

Beginning next week the Enterprise will be on sale at the news stands Friday evenings. The urgent requests we are receiving from our subscribers compels us to make this move.

Wetherbee Bros. are moving their workshop in the basement and will tear down the partition in their store, thus enlarging the same several feet. Other improvements are noticeable.

Our honored citizen ex-Gov. Brackett received the appointment to the electoral college, made vacant by the death of Ex-Gov. Wolcott, by a unanimous choice. He is well fitted for the place.

An alarm was rung in on Thursday morning from box 25 for a fire at the Boat club, caused by the explosion of a gasoline tank in the boiler room. It was quickly extinguished. Damage about $50.

Mr. H. P. Lewis of 475 Mass. avenue has been appointed assistant superintendent of the Somerville branch of the Metropolitan Insurance Co. Mr. Lewis is deserving of the promotion, having won the same by faithful and meritorious work.

Thursday afternoon the Woman's Club met in G. A. R. hall. A large audience was present to listen to Mr. Louis Elson deliver his lecture on "Shakespeare in Music." Mr. Elson is an easy and pleasing speaker, he holding the closest attention of his hearers until the finish.

Our tree warden sounds the note of warning at an opportune time to all who have trees infested with the brown-tail moth. Now is the time to kill them off. Let not our shade and fruit trees be depleted next summer when it can be avoided now.

The Arlington Historical Society met in Pleasant hall Tuesday evening. A most interesting meeting was held, being termed as a "rummage evening." Old pamphlets, books, manuscripts, and historic articles were shown to all present. A musical and literary treat was furnished during the evening.

While Mr. Edwards, proprietor of Johnson's express, was at the Chrome Co. works Friday evening, his horse was frightened by the whistle and started on a run. He was caught by Mr. John Connelly and taken to the police station, where Mr. Edwards found it.

Wednesday afternoon the ladies of the Pleasant street Congregational church held an afternoon tea in the vestry of the church. Mrs. Thayer, president of the Florence Crittenden Home in Roxbury, gave an address, and her remarks were concerning the home. It was decidedly interesting and instructive.

Camp 45, S. of V., were unable to hold their installation of officers as scheduled last Wednesday evening. In all good faith Chief Harriman let the hall for the Holy Ghost Hospital whist party, thinking the camp's meeting was the following week. When the matter became known it was too late to remedy the mistake. Under the circumstances the members gladly withdrew their meeting until a future date.

The young men boarders of Mrs. Chas. R. Hoyt of Water street were given a whist party by her at her home the other evening. Mrs. Hoyt is a royal entertainer, and the young men passed an evening of rare enjoyment. After the whist a bountiful collation was served. Miss Hewison of Beachmont was present and won first prize. Roland Hoyt, who took a lady's part won the booby prize. Mr. Marshall won the first gentleman's prize and Mr. Burns the booby.

Rep. S. W. McCall has the appointing of a cadet to the military academy at West Point, and as he desires the competition to be open to the boys of the district, he has selected a committee which will hold a competitive examination at the High school building, Winchester, Mass., at 8 a. m. on Saturday, the 16th of February. All applicants for examination must be residents of the district. The circular giving the requirements for admission to the military academy can be had by writing to S. W. McCall, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.

Our Baptist brethren are to observe Sunday, Jan. 27, as a "New church reunion day," the object being to bring together all the friends of the church, when the new church building will be dedicated. All the members of the church, resident and non-resident, will receive notice of the meeting and its object, to which it is hoped there will be a cordial response. The blank pledges received will gladly be filled out, we doubt not, according to every one's means. This invitation is extended to all who may have at any time been an attendant at the church or Sunday school.

Mr. Charles Johnson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Johnson of Winter street, died very suddenly at his home last Monday and was buried Wednesday. At an early age he lost his leg and has been a familiar face about town. Quiet and unassuming in his nature and never speaking other than well of his fellow-men, he had warm and true friends he could count by the score, no better evidence of this could be demonstrated than his grave which was literally covered with flowers, and his largely attended funeral. He died of typhoid fever.

Mr. William Burns, who has served as clerk for William Caldwell, severed his connections with him Saturday evening. He expects soon to enter the employ of the Fitchburg R. R. Mr. Burns has won a host of friends since his coming to Arlington and is very popular with all who know him. He is a genial whole-souled fellow. Mr. Caldwell made a mistake in not retaining him, for he has won for the house a large patronage. He has the best wishes of his friends in whatever business he may enter.

The first installation of the officers of Menotomy Council No. 1781, Royal Arcanum, after the instituting, was held in G. A. R. hall Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance both of the lodge members and visiting brothers of other lodges. The installing officer was Dist. Deputy Grand Regent Frank Dodge of Lowell, and he placed in office the newly-elected officers. After the installation addresses were made by the district deputy and others. Both vocal and instrumental music was rendered and a fine collation was set for the company.

The beautiful and spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Russell at 789 Mass. avenue was the scene on Tuesday evening of a happy gathering. Their daughter, Miss Lorna, tendered a reception to her friend, Miss Florence Easton of Hyde Park. The T. Z. C. V. Z. club, an organization of which both young ladies are active members, were all present. Whist predominated the first of the evening and exquisite prizes were awarded the winners. At the conclusion of the whist an excellent lunch was served followed by dancing. Among the happy gathering from Arlington were the Misses Carrie Hilliard, Lottie Brooks, Edith Fowle, Edith Butterfield, Martha Durgin, Annabelle Parker, Florence Cobb, Messrs Frank Gannett Henry Lang, Charles Lathrop, Dwight Prescott, and Fred Butterfield. A large number of guests were present from Cambridge, Boston, Dorchester and Hyde Park. Miss Carrie Hilliard furnished the music for dancing.

In the issue of Jan. 5 we in a short editorial referred to an electrical plant for the town. In last week's issue a communication appeared relating to this question. This citizen does not speak hastily or without having made this subject a special study. In fact he was present when the subject was first discussed. The communication makes interesting study for one who carefully peruses it. And now that we have a building which can be used the cost will be greatly lessened for a town plant. The citizens generally are asked to send in their communications, on this subject whether they be for or against it, and thus give the matter a general going over before the next town meeting. It is a matter of dollars to the town's savings as well as an expense for the citizens. By all means let the question be discussed fairly and squarely.

A pretty family home wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Griffin of Annisquam last Monday evening at 6 o'clock, the happy couple being their daughter, Miss Martha, and Mr. Herbert Rawson, son of our esteemed and honored citizen, Mr. Warren W. Rawson. The decorations of the house were similar to those at the Hoyt-Hooker wedding with the exception of the canopy, that being in the shape of half circle. The flowers for the decorations were from Mr. Rawson's greenhouses and his superintendent of this branch of his business, went down to do the decorating. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. Alvord Gunnison, an uncle of the bride, who resides in the City of New York and is president of the St. Lawrence Institute. The bride wore a lovely dress of white silk with a full tulle veil, and carried a large bouquet of bride's roses. A large number of relatives went down to the wedding and had a special car to convey them from Gloucester to Annisquam and return. Owing to her long sickness Mrs. Rawson was unable to attend. The bride and groom were very handsomely remembered. Many handsome and elegant presents were received from the bride's wide circle of friends. Mrs. Rawson's gift to the bride was an Ivers & Pond piano, the same one which was at the World's Fair. Mr. Rawson's gift was the house on Broadway and its entire furnishings, they being elegant and costly. The clerks in the Boston store sent a handsome roll-top desk and chair. The employees on the farm sent two very handsome pictures, an etching and steel engraving. Mr. and Mrs. Rawson took a train for New York and from there they sail for Bermuda for a three weeks' stay. They will be at home in February.

Seldom does the publisher of the Enterprise offer an apology. But he feels it now a duty to say a word regarding the lateness of the issues for a few weeks past. He assures his readers it has not been to his liking. Just after moving our trouble commenced. The first week the water was not connected in time and we were obliged to send our forms out to be printed. The second week there were three breaks in the water pipes, thus necessitating sending the forms out again. The third week, the motor refused to work, and it was too late to get the papers into the afternoon delivery when the same was put in running order. The following week we found that the pipes had frozen and in attempting to open the main valve it broke and again the papers missed the afternoon mail. Last week everything looked prosperous for an early issue but several difficulties which were unavoidable and at the same time unexplainable, caused the papers to be late. The publisher wishes his readers to know the whole trouble and thus put an end to false rumors. It is our desire to have the papers for the first delivery on Saturday morning and we are in hopes to accomplish this in a week or two.

Through the untiring efforts of Mr. John A. Bishop, as chairman, Daniel W. Grannan, John T. Hendricks, Misses Mary Powers, Jennie McCarthy, Julia O'Brien, Annie Robinson, Katie O'Brien, Hattie Shepard, Nellie Curley, Mary Harrington, Annie Corrigan, Maria Higgins, Katie Collins, as the committee in charge, the Whist party and dance in aid of the Holy Ghost Hospital and Aid society was very largely attended on Wednesday evening. It was assured long before the evening that a large number of tickets had been sold and 41 tables were needed to accommodate the players and a most enjoyable evening was spent. After the play dancing was indulged in and continued until 1 o'clock. Mr. John T. Hendricks acted as floor director with Mr. Bishop as assistant. Prof. Bendix's orchestra seemed to enthrall the dancers as his playing was of the same high order as usual and many of the selections were applauded. The prizes were won as follows: First gentleman's prize, Mr. Daniel O'Brien, second Mr. John McCarthy; first lady's prize, Miss Minnie Grannan, second, Miss Katie Linehan. Among those present were:

Mr. D. W. Grannan and wife, Mr. D. J. Collins and wife, Mr. George H. Lowe and wife, Mr. John J. Leary and wife, Mr. Keenan and wife, Messrs. Purcell, Peter O'Neill, Frank Rowe, J. J. Ahern, Mr. W. On Wednesday evening, for the fourth time in succession, the Boat club team lost three consecutive games, attributed to poor second ball work, 20 spares being missed in every match previous to this one. The match was against the Boston athletics on the home alleys. The home team was strengthened by "Kid" Rankin, who has been doing some good work this season in the Mystic Valley league series, and the result was that he more than held his own among the "big" fellows, making the second highest score of the evening, 568, for the three games. Dodge played a splendid game, bowling two frames clean for 194 and 195 and in the third getting 211, although missing a one-pin spare. His total was an even 600. In the eighth frame each man of the club team got a strike, resulting in two doubles. The scores:

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH NOTES.

There will be an early celebration of the holy communion at St. John's church tomorrow morning at 7.30.

The Rev. James Yeames will give a lecture in the course of church history before the Girls' Friendly society in the Parish house, Maple street, on Wednesday evening next. Subject, "What led up to the reformation."

On Monday evening there will be a reunion of former and present parishioners of St. John's. The Revs. Messrs. Ketchum, Pember, Raymond, Dr. E. Abbott (Cambridge) E. A. Rand (Watertown) R. H. Coe (Belmont) and other clergymen have promised to be present.

The organist of St. John's church, Miss D. A. Swadkins, will give an organ recital in the church at 7.15 on Monday evening. The program will be as follows:

Impromptu, Op. 11, No. 1. Leschetizky
Pavane sur des Nèls, No. 1. Liszt
Larghetto. Mozart
Festal March in C. Calkins

The Rt. Rev. Bishop of South Dakota, Dr. Wm. Hobart Hare, gave a most interesting address in St. John's church on Wednesday evening, on the subject of mission work among Indians and white settlers in his large western diocese. A short preliminary service was conducted by the rector. A liberal offering was given for the bishop's Indian schools.

Tomorrow, the second Sunday after Epiphany, will be a high day at St. John's church. The parish celebrates the 25th anniversary of its organization. The first service was held in the Town hall, Oct. 3, 1875, and the Sunday school was begun two weeks later. In November, St. John's mission having been organized, the congregation adopted the then new Menotomy hall as its place of worship. The first service in the church on Academy street was held Oct. 21, 1877, and the church was consecrated, entirely free from debt, on Oct. 11, 1882. The Rev. Dr. Hutchins, who voluntarily served the parish as its rector from 1880 to 1882, will preach tomorrow morning at 10.20. The rector, Rev. Jas. Yeames, will preach in the evening at 7.30, giving an historical review of the parish.
